ORDER TO CEASE AND DESIST AND ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE WHY CIVIL PENALTIES AND COSTS SHOULD NOT BE IMPOSED

On July 12, 2010, the Enforcement Section of the Securities Division of the Office of Secretary of State (the "Enforcement Section"), through the Securities Division's Assistant Commissioner, Mary Hosmer, submitted a Petition for Order to Cease and Desist and Order to Show Cause Why Civil Penalties and Costs Should Not Be Imposed. After reviewing the petition, the Commissioner issues the following findings of fact, conclusions of law and order:

I. FINDINGS OF FACT

1. James E. Otto ("Otto") is an insurance agent and is licensed to sell life and health insurance through the Missouri Department of Insurance, Financial Institutions, and Professional Registration ("Missouri DOI"). Otto was registered as a securities agent in Missouri through the Central Registration Depository System ("CRD") from October 1986 to May 2002, with CRD number 1566081. Otto has not been registered in the State of Missouri to sell securities since May 2002. From May 2002 until August 2006, Otto was an insurance agent with Bankers Life and Casualty Company ("Bankers Life"). Otto has an address of 13425 W. 128th Street, Overland Park, Kansas 66213. Otto is not registered as a broker-dealer or investment adviser in the State of Missouri.
2. Michael Lees ("Lees") is an insurance agent and is licensed to sell life and health insurance through the Missouri DOI. Lees has a CRD number of 867965 but has never been registered as a securities agent in Missouri. Lees has never been affiliated with a registered broker-dealer. Lees has a last known address of 12404 Beverly Street, Leawood, Kansas 66209.

3. Bankers Life is a Missouri-licensed insurance company with National Association of Insurance Carriers number 61263. Bankers Life has a main address of 600 West Chicago Avenue, Chicago, Illinois 60654.
4. Sherry Wood Hayes ("Hayes") is an insurance agent and is licensed to sell life and health insurance through the Missouri DOI. From approximately 2005 until March 2006, Hayes worked with Otto. Hayes has never been registered in the State of Missouri to sell securities. Hayes has an address of 905 NE 80th Terrace, Kansas City, Missouri 64118.
5. Brokerage Firm X is a Missouri-registered broker-dealer and has a main address in Nebraska.
6. Brokerage Firm Y is a Missouri-registered broker-dealer and has a main address in Rhode Island.
7. As used herein, the term "Respondents" refers to Otto and Lees.
8. In 2004, Otto approached Bankers Life's branch manager Lees about an operation to move Bankers Life clients' securities investments held outside Bankers Life into new investments through Bankers Life.
9. Otto claimed he could assist insurance agents at Bankers Life by, among other things:
  - a. transferring Bankers Life customers' brokerage accounts held at outside broker-dealers to Brokerage Firm X or Brokerage Firm Y;
  - b. liquidating securities from the customer's brokerage account at Brokerage Firm X or Brokerage Firm Y; and
  - c. requesting the transfer of money after liquidation from Brokerage Firm X or Brokerage Firm Y to Bankers Life and other insurance companies.

Hereinafter, this operation is referred to as "Otto's In-House Brokerage."

10. From May 2004 through August 2006, Otto made both group and individual presentations to insurance agents at Bankers Life regarding Otto's In-House Brokerage.
11. During these presentations, Otto claimed, among other things, that liquidating a customer's outside brokerage account through the "in-house brokerage" was:
  - a. less costly;
  - b. less time consuming; and
  - c. involved less paperwork than going through a brokerage firm.
12. Information packets for Otto's In-House Brokerage were maintained at the front of the office at Bankers Life's branch office located in Overland Park, Kansas. These packets, which Otto developed, contained the forms necessary to open an account with Brokerage Firm X or Brokerage Firm Y and to transfer securities the customer already held to a new account.

13. Insurance agents of Bankers Life obtained a packet and assisted their customers with the completion of the forms in the packet, and gave the completed forms to Otto. Otto then established an account for the customer at Brokerage Firm X or Brokerage Firm Y.
14. In an on-the-record statement Otto provided to the Enforcement Section (the "Otto OTR"), Otto stated that thirty to thirty-five Bankers Life insurance agents used Otto's In-House Brokerage.
15. In accounts that Otto set up with Brokerage Firm X or Brokerage Firm Y, Otto gave himself limited trading authority and often listed Otto's email on the forms for Brokerage Firm X in order to receive customer statements. These account documents were signed by the customer.
16. Upon opening an account, Otto also set up an on-line account that allowed Otto to directly access the customer's brokerage account electronically.
17. Otto used this direct on-line access to sell the securities in the brokerage account and move the money to cash.
18. Otto executed liquidation orders in the customer's account and had the money from the brokerage account sent to Bankers Life for the purchase of an annuity or other insurance product.
19. For this service, Otto received ten percent (10%) of the agent's commission on the insurance product the customer purchased or a flat fee of one hundred fifty dollars ($150).
20. Beginning in at least 2005, Otto contacted elderly investors in the Kansas City area and assisted them in selling securities in their brokerage accounts. In addition, Otto:
  - a. recommended to some of these investors that the investor:
    - 1) consolidate their accounts at Brokerage Firm X;
    - 2) reposition their 401(k)s into annuities;
    - 3) liquidate mutual funds;
    - 4) retain certain securities because the security "diversifies you" and/or had "good performance;" and
    - 5) purchase complex equity indexed annuities with long surrender periods;
  - b. told some of these investors that he worked for Brokerage Firm X;
  - c. told some of these investors that he did investment work;

- d. did not state to all of these investors that:
- 1) Otto was an insurance agent with Bankers Life; and/or
  - 2) neither Otto nor Otto's In-House Brokerage were registered to offer or sell securities in Missouri or to provide investment advice.
21. In the Otto OTR, Otto stated, among other things, that:
- a. while at Bankers Life, he could only sell Bankers Life products;
  - b. the Bankers Life annuity that Otto typically sold to customers had a guaranteed competitive interest rate for one year and then decreased to the minimum interest rate at the end of the first year; and
  - c. he had received multiple complaints from Bankers Life customers since 2005 regarding Bankers Life's rate decrease after the first year.
22. After Otto's resignation from Bankers Life, Otto and Hayes contacted Bankers Life's customers and talked to these customers about exchanging their Bankers Life annuities for a new annuity.
23. Approximately fifty percent (50%) of the annuities sold by Bankers Life agents using Otto's In-House Brokerage were surrendered. These Bankers Life customers paid surrender fees in excess of two hundred seventy thousand dollars.
24. In late 2009, the Enforcement Section requested information from Brokerage Firm X regarding Otto's activities in customer accounts at Brokerage Firm X. In February 2010, Brokerage Firm X provided, among other things, the following information:
- a. Otto had direct access and limited trading authority on over one hundred and fifty-nine (159) accounts at Brokerage Firm X;
  - b. Otto transferred over seven million one hundred thousand dollars ($7,100,000) from these accounts at Brokerage Firm X to insurance companies;
  - c. Otto's email address was listed on some of the customer accounts;
  - d. Otto received customer account statements and trade confirmations on some of these accounts;
  - e. in or around May 2005 and again in April 2006, Brokerage Firm X contacted Otto regarding his trading authority for Brokerage Firm X accounts. Otto stated that:
    - 1) Otto assisted others in opening accounts at Brokerage Firm X to transfer stock from other brokerage firms;
    - 2) The account holders were friends or acquaintances;

- 3)The funds were sent to Bankers Life to purchase an annuity;
  - 4)Bankers Life primarily catered to seniors;
  - 5)Seniors don't have computers and don't know any other way to get the funds transferred;
  - 6)Otto educated the clients;
  - 7)Neither the insurance agents nor the clients were smart enough to do the transfers on their own;
  - 8)Brokerage Firm X could contact Lees at Bankers Life for verification;
  - 9)Otto was not an insurance agent; and
  - 10)Otto did not receive a fee or commission for this service;
- f. Brokerage Firm X obtained information that Otto was actively licensed to sell insurance in health, life and variable contracts;
  - g. Brokerage Firm X obtained information that Otto was an insurance agent with Bankers Life;
  - h. on or around April 11, 2006, Brokerage Firm X sent a letter to Otto. In this letter a Brokerage Firm X representative stated, among other things, that Brokerage Firm X intended to terminate its "business relationship" with Otto;
  - i. on or around April 13, 2006, a limited trading authorization form was submitted to Brokerage Firm X. On the form, Hayes was labeled as the authorized agent and indicated that her job was "self-employed-financial-planner." Otto's name and information was also listed on the form, but was crossed out. Otto's employer was listed as "JOTTO, INC.," with the industry specified as "real estate business development;"
  - j. on June 1, 2006, Brokerage Firm X sent another letter to Otto stating, among other things, that:

"Since the termination of your account, it is evident that the activity persists, both by engaging other parties to become an authorized agent, and through the access of [Brokerage Firm X's] client accounts. [Brokerage Firm X's] decision to terminate our relationship with you pertains to your authorization and power of attorney on accounts and your access to [Brokerage Firm X] accounts. Please refrain from accessing any [Brokerage Firm X] accounts, or allowing others access to these accounts on your behalf. [Brokerage Firm X] will no longer act as an intermediary or conduct these types of transactions . . . .;"
  - k. from in or around March 2006, until in or around June 2006, representatives of Brokerage Firm X contacted multiple clients who had worked with Otto.

Brokerage Firm X found that:

- 1) some customers did not know that Otto had access to their accounts;
- 2) some customers were confused about the process, did not know who had contacted them, or what product they had purchased at Bankers Life;
- 3) one customer purchased an equity indexed annuity at Bankers Life after spending four (4) hours with the Bankers Life agent. This individual was never given information that described how the investment worked. This transfer was rescinded; and
- 4) one ninety (90) year-old customer who was hearing impaired stated that he did not request a transfer and wanted to cancel the transfer and the purchase of an annuity at Bankers Life;

l. Brokerage Firm X conducted several reviews of accounts connected to Otto. These reviews indicated, among other things, that:

- 1) a customer sent a letter to Brokerage Firm X stating, "Please stop the order that I gave you to buy a Bankers' . . . annuity in the amount of $89,000.00. I have changed my mind. Do not make this transfer. I did not realize that I already have 3 annuities" and "I wish to stop this transfer immediately!! I have faxed this letter of authorization to Nic Miller of Bankers' 3 times, and he is ignoring me;"
- 2) at least two customers sent letters of instruction to Brokerage Firm X that indicated, among other things, any questions could be directed to their "authorized agent" Otto; and
- 3) Between March 19, 2007, and April 6, 2007, an individual contacted Brokerage Firm X on three occasions representing himself as a resident of Overland Park, Kansas ("KR1"). During the conversations, this individual inquired about a check that had been requested from KR1's account at Brokerage Firm X. The person indicated that he needed the check to pay a friend to whom KR1 owed money. The individual also stated that the check should be written payable to a friend named "Jim Otto." This individual stated that the check, in excess of one thousand three hundred dollars ($1,300), was to pay a "tax deal." Brokerage Firm X verified that the number used to contact Brokerage Firm X on all three occasions was a telephone number that was connected to Otto. A representative of Brokerage Firm X recorded the conversations and contacted KR1. KR1 stated to the Brokerage Firm X representative that the person speaking on the phone was, in fact, Otto and not KR1;

m. Otto accessed Brokerage Firm X's customer accounts via the internet using the customer's unique user ID and password, and most of the accounts reflected

Otto's email for receiving statements on the account;

- n. between June 6, 2006, and September 1, 2006, IP addresses<sup>1</sup> connected to Otto were used one hundred and fifty times (150) times to access eleven (11) Brokerage Firm X accounts; and
  - o. as of June 21, 2007, multiple IP addresses connected to Otto continued to access accounts held at Brokerage Firm X.
25. On September 21, 2009, the Enforcement Section requested information from Brokerage Firm Y. Brokerage Firm Y provided, among other things, the following information:
- a. on or around September 2009, Otto had access to twenty-six (26) accounts at Brokerage Firm Y;
  - b. these twenty-six (26) accounts held more than three hundred eighty thousand dollars ($380,000);
  - c. on twenty-four (24) of these accounts Otto had limited trading authority for the customer;
  - d. Otto was listed as the owner of one account; and
  - e. the most recent account was opened on or around March 1, 2009.
26. Brokerage Firm Y indicated to the Enforcement Section that, as of November 24, 2009, Brokerage Firm Y removed Otto's access to all Brokerage Firm Y accounts on which Otto had limited trading authority.
27. On June 23, 2010, the Enforcement Section conducted an on-the-record interview of Lees. Lees stated, among other things, that:
- a. Otto was a registered securities agent when Otto worked at Bankers Life;
  - b. Otto offered to act as a registered securities agent for Bankers Life insurance agents;
  - c. Lees hired Otto for the purpose of assisting agents at Bankers Life with the liquidation of securities held by their customers for the purchase of annuities;
  - d. Lees was aware that Otto received a portion of the insurance commission for Otto's services;
  - e. Lees did not check to see if Otto was registered to offer or sell securities; and
  - f. Lees understood that Otto performed the same securities services for other Bankers Life branch offices.
28. The Enforcement Section conducted interviews of insurance agents that used Otto's In-House Brokerage. The interviews revealed, among other things, that:

- a. Otto gave a presentation at a branch meeting for the Hutchinson, Kansas, branch office detailing the business; and
  - b. Bankers Life agents in the Hutchinson branch were told that Otto was a registered securities agent at the time he was conducting the brokerage service.
29. Otto did not disclose to some Bankers Life customers who liquidated securities through Otto's In-House Brokerage, among other things, the following information:
- a. Otto was not registered as a broker-dealer or investment adviser in the State of Missouri;
  - b. Otto was earning a commission or a fee from insurance sales in the customer accounts; and/or
  - c. Otto had a conflict of interest in recommending the liquidation of a security to purchase an insurance product.
30. After termination of Otto's relationship with Brokerage Firm X, Otto did not disclose to customers of Otto's In-House Brokerage, among other things, the following information:
- a. Otto was prohibited from accessing customer accounts at Brokerage Firm X;
  - b. Otto was prohibited from on-line access to these accounts;
  - c. Otto violated these prohibitions; and/or
  - d. Otto had misrepresented himself as a customer in an attempt to obtain customer funds from Brokerage Firm X.
